Life Insurance Clearly Explained
The recent failure of the Continental
Life Insurance Company of New York
Insurance Company of New York cities built according to his plan, children may be born and reared and live in such absolutely healthy conditions that they shall attain patriarchal age in sweet freedom from disease, and die gently and beautifully, like a strain of music. Hawksley desires to dispel this dream, and explained at length the physiological reasons why all endeavors must fail to materially extend "those limits of life which Nature in her wisdom prescribed."
In a previous portion of his address, moreover, he indulges in such gloomy va ticinations in regard to the condition and destiny of England, as must reconcile expenses and cover the contingency of or any American, for that matter—to dying at least as soon as three score and ten. Eogland, he observes, has 24,000,000 of people and 30,000,000 acres, or one any reasonable Englishman or womanperson to every one and a quarter acres. And the population is increasing at a fearful rate. The Government ought to encourage emigration; but that's only a temporary resort, because in 20 genera-tions the English, and people of English descent, will have grown so as to fill 15 worlds the size of curs not making an worlds the size of ours, not making any that is what this social scientist saysfrom which we can see that this world must be used up in the course of a very few generations, barring postilences, wars and cataclysms of extrordinary dimenwill be moving off ourselves? BAD Boys.-The naval school at Annapolis continues to expel the youths who won't "tell on" the authors of the recent hazing, two more having been expelled this week. A more summary method was tried at Dovetown Protestant College of India the other day. Some very bad boys cut off the sent of the principal's chair, leaving it hanging by a few treacherous strands. When the august gentleman took his seat, the attitude he involuntarily assumed was utterly subversive of all discipline. Failing to detect the perpetrators of the trick, he sus-pended the half-holiday of Saturday. took his stand on the dais surrounded by assistants, and proceeded to thrash the whole 30, the punishment being the severest ever inflicted at that school. The matter at last accounts was likely father, who had a stepson at the same college, to whom he made a large allowschool from disgrace by committing suicide, as was reported throughout Europe,

The Bible Not an Authority Upon Direase. In the Manager with the self-self with the string of the worth was asked by Senator Sargent "if the disease saining among the Mongolians was the true leprony of the Bible." To which he replied he didn't know, as "medical men were not in the habit of consulting the Bible as an authority upon diseases." The discomforture of the worthy Senator may be better inaging ined than described. The reply was well-timed and admirable. It was an argument clothed in exquisite sairc. The question that drew it forth was, in truth, a very fair specimen of the prejudice which is artfully instilled into the mids of the ignorant against the Chinese. The poor fellows have hitherto walked nour streets with this disease, and have entered our hospitals with it, and, denoted all diseases are, yet no serious consequences have arisen to our people through its presence here. But then it may be made a bugaboo of. Attach to it an awainspring Biblical name and origin, and it instantaneously becomes a worse scare-crow to certain people here than does the Banshe would it be to propose the cure of the disease is not propose the cure of the disease, in any sease, rather than use it as a means to frighten ignorant people. If the commission will inquire as to if a curability, they will be accomplishing a benefician, humanitarian work, and, before they are through, may possibly attonish our medicos at the amount of useful information revealed. The disease is by no means unknown or confined to the Chinese. In Norway there were, in 1856, as many as 2,850 advanced cases of it; by scientific treatment then commenced, the number of curessoon amounted to 40 per cent of the whole, and since should be incertainly pay scientific treatment then commenced, the number of curessoo whose life is assured, and the one to whom, or his representatives, the payment is to be made on the happening of the contingency, and who is responsible to the company for the premiums, is the assured, or policy holder; the consideration to be paid the company for assurance is the premium; the chance of death of following the in any given years to the parson whose life is assured is the risk." An explanation is also given of the different planation is also given of the different kinds of life assurance companies, pro-prietary, mutual and mutual and mixed and the essential characteristics of each is pointed out. A proprietary, or stock company, is one formed of a number of persons who subscribe a capital (and early losses before the premiums

A mixed company is one formed ecount of the other nations. Actually, upon a combination of the principles o the proprietary and the mi nies. A cash capital is raised by a num-ber of subscribers, who agree to assume responsibility for the first expenses and early losses, and at certain intervals to divide among the assured a part of the accumulated profits. The principal kind sions, and the migration to other spheres will have begun. This shows what can be done with figures. After this, we don't wonder at Hawkiley's fears as to the feeding of 'can all. He gravely asks:

The distinctive features of each kind are the feeding of 'can all. He gravely asks: Can we always calculate on other nations supplying us with food under alt conservable circumstances? What a question, when by his own calculations we English-speaking people will have crowded the rest of the folks off the earth, and a contract.

The method of calculating the premium is an interesting feature of life assurance. There are two standard mortality tables

There are two standard mortality tables in the United States, compi led from the records of a large number of companies, and the vital statistics gathered by vari-ous scientific associations, and from these the assurance companies figure out the amount that must be paid by the assured in order to enable the company to mee its engagements and to earn reasonable profits. When a man in ordinary good health presents himself for assurance the first inquiry is as to his age. If he is in his fortieth year the mortality table shows that of 78,106 persons of that age alive at the beginning of the preceding year 765 died during the succeeding twelve months—that is, every person age forty years has ninety-eight chances of of ten thousand of dying before he arrive About 30 seniors stayed away on that day, whereupon, on Monday morning, he ty-nine chances in ten thousand of dy ing before he reaches forty-two. According to the tables, "the expectation of life" to a man of forty years extends over the period of twenty-seven years and on month-that is, the individual belongs t a class that attains the age of sixtyto terminate in the police court. The French military academy of St. Cyr has lately had a sensation in the detection of one of the cadets at stealing the purses of the students out of their sleeping rooms.

It was urged in extenuation that "he was of the principal to ninety-eight out of an illegitimate son, abandoned by his father, who had a stepson at the same the age of forty) and to pay the survivors when they arrive at sixty-seven, beyond which the expectation of life does not ance, and that, infuriated by jealousy, he stole money to get a little pleasure like his more favored brother." The Judge Advocate denied that the fellow students ordained to die at sixty-seven. Every of the boy had urged him to save the day they survive beyond this adds to the

but the lad was sentenced to two years imprisonment, not entailing military degradation. To return to Annapolis, it seems a great pity that the authorities can't get at these difficulties more cheaply than by expelling the whole class seriatim. If honor is so powerful an inducement to silence on the part of those who know the truth; it ought to be an equally strong incentive to confession on equally strong incentive to confession on investments, and their premiums are calthe part of the guilty rather than that culated on this basis.
